		Broad acceptance to the proposal.	Broad acceptance to the proposal.	Queried which toilets would still be run by NHDC. Concerned that toilets that are closed would still attract costs such as rates, electricity etc, has the cost of the rates been taken into account and is there a way to limit these costs? Has there been discussions with other Parish Councils and if so what is the position.
		Officer comment: The three toilet facilities which are proposed to remain open are Fish Hill, Royston, Arena Parade, Hitchin and Howard Park, Letchworth. Ongoing maintenance costs for closed facilities his been considered and will be incorporated into the final budget.

		Officer comment: This proposal is for the temporary saving during the construction phase of the proposal is savings which will result once the project is complete and the current museum buildings are no least used as museums have not yet been incorporated into the budget.

		Officer comment : The Council has received a rebate of over £9k from the Audit Commission for 2011/12 audit fees as part of the drive by the Audit Commission to reduce fees. The Audit fees consult mentions an intended 10% reduction in fees and the Audit Commission has said they are hopeful they reduce fees by more than this following the current procurement exercise. The budget will be reduced accordingly as and when we receive firm notification of a reduction in fees.

		Officer comment: Officers were asked to look into potential savings around the deliver reception at the September Member workshops. With regards to conference attendance last year to reduce the cost of attendance at conferences and attendance is now of officers and members. 		Officer Comment: The effectiveness of a prevention service is always going to be difficult to prove, particularly with regard to this client group. A report that contains information on the number of students that have benefited from the HYHG service so far this year, and feedback from the students is available and can be circulated to Members separately as required. In the period April to October 2011 a total of 91 students attended sessions in the North Herts area. In terms of use of s106 monies, regard would have to be had to the detailed agreement regarding use of the funds.

		Officer Comment: A reduction in the service from all year round to summer months only was approved as part of the 2011/12 savings programme. The proposal this year is to further reduce the service by terminating it. Activity data has been collated and in the period April to Sept 2011 there were 94 complaints received and 47 visits by Officers to premises. A graph with this data is available and can be circulated to Members if required. Sharing of the service may be difficult due to the need to attend the site and the potential travelling time for officers from other Councils.

			Members need to be provided with more detail of consultancy spend and the justification for all the spend. Spend on consultancy should be explicitly linked to a member decision for the spend.
		Officer Response: This saving relates to one of very few remaining revenue consultancy budgets. The large majority of spend on external consultants will be relating to specific capital programmes which will hav been approved by Members as part of the Corporate Business Planning process. The FAR Committee indicated they were satisfied with the information provided on consultancy spend at the last meeting.
