- 6.2 The Museum Service is due to vacate Hitchin Museum when the service moves to the new North Hertfordshire Museum later on this year.
- 6.3 A two part report was considered by Cabinet on 16 December 2014 that looked at options for Hitchin Museum and Thomas Bellamy House. The preferred option will be progressed in detail after the Museum Service has vacated Hitchin Museum. The Part 1 public report is attached at Appendix A.

- 6.4 After considering the Part 1 public report Cabinet resolved (Minute 93 refers):
- (1) That the report be noted, and an in principle decision on which option to progress be deferred to in order to consider the issues raised within the Part 2 exempt report included later in the agenda (see Minute 96 below);
 - (2) That, subject to the decision on the Part 2 report, it be noted that a further report will be presented to Cabinet in due course; and
 - (3) That it be confirmed that Hitchin Museum has not yet been declared surplus, and that access to the building by third parties to carry out surveys and condition reports may only be offered after the Museum Service has vacated the building and after a further report on the preferred option has been presented back to Cabinet.
- 6.5 The Part 2 exempt report included Appendix A, a Spreadsheet showing estimated costings of options and Appendix B Legal Counsel's advice. After considering the Part report Cabinet further resolved (Minute 96 refers):
